

Claiming Your Spiritual Birthright

Mirrored within humanity is the pattern of their Mastery, but they find it hard to bring this map of the Divine Plan into fruition. There are five missing factors in most people:

1. They don't know how to transform their Soul's potentials
2. They don't know how to awaken the energy and awareness of the mind—the Kundalini Shakti
3. They don't know how to enable the spirit to travel back to God
4. They don't know how to focus their attention to activate the Self, the attentional principle, the spirit, and the Soul
5. They don't know how to awaken their seven core abilities, so that their Soul can have full expression

Those of you who study with Mudrashram® have been given the keys to the first four of these factors—your transformational mantra, the kundalini technique, the Nada Yoga practice, and the knowledge of where to focus your attention to activate these principles within you.

In today's webinar, you will learn about this fifth factor, activating your Soul's abilities.

- You will find out what are the core abilities of the Soul, and you will assess how far you have developed these abilities, and what remains to be opened.
- You will gain knowledge about the action of the Divine Spirit in opening both these core abilities, as well as the abilities you gain in the personality and on the higher Planes.
- You will be taught an invocation to begin to awaken and rehabilitate your abilities, so you can fulfill your Soul's purpose.

What Are the Seven Core Abilities?

The core abilities of the Soul operate from the waking state of awareness up to the current level of your Soul's evolution. These seven core abilities are

1. Will or Volition
2. Sight
3. Hearing
4. Feeling (this is also called the Cord of Faith, or the Cord of Remembrance)
5. Knowing (this is the intuitional bridge to the Soul, the Antakarana)
6. Loving (this is the spirit's path of the Nada; this union occurs when the spirit opens this channel to the same level as the Soul.)
7. Speaking (this is the ability to speak from the Soul, the spirit, and the attentional principle, which is called Satsang)

The octaves of the will typically awaken as your Soul unfolds, so the your Soul's capacity to operate the abilities that have been activated in you is an automatic process—you bring about this unfoldment of the will as you do your transformational mantra.

You activate your cord of faith through your aspiration—when you reach up to God and the Masters for their aid and succor. You activate the cord of remembrance when you focus your attention on your Soul, on the forms of God that are beyond you on the Soul's path, and upon the seed of your calling.

You activate the track of love when you do your Nada Yoga practice, and you open to the heart center of the Soul's essential vehicle. If you are doing Nada Yoga regularly and drawing your spirit along the Nadamic channels to the same level as your Soul, this track is clear in you.

We have gone into developing the spiritual octaves of the senses of sight and hearing in the advanced webinars on “A Primer on Spiritual Sensing” and “Astral Vision,” plus we have explored this topic in great depth in our paid webinar, “The Vision Workshop.” We will monitor the development of these two sensory tracks in today’s webinar.

We have outlined the role of meditation in building the Antakarana in the advanced webinars on “Dialog” and “Using Your Higher Intuition”; we will monitor its development in today’s webinar.

We have discussed Satsang and how you activate it in our paid webinar, the “Missing Meditation Technique Workshop.” Core speech is contingent on you contacting the Soul, and allowing it to channel its wisdom through you. We will monitor its development in today’s webinar.

The Seven Levels of Selected Core Abilities

We can track the development of vision, hearing, knowing, and speaking through seven levels—from periphery to core. This will allow you to estimate the level you have developed this ability.

For Sight, observe whether this is present

- Operation of visual faculties in your brain
- Glimpses of contents of vehicles of consciousness up to the Self
- Astral vision functioning in your astral body
- Metavision, the ability to see with the attentional principle
- Heart sight, the ability to see with the spirit
- Visual Intuition, the ability of the Soul to see the contents of the Self (personal intuition) and the Superconscious mind (transpersonal intuition)
- The Soul’s core sight—beholding its own essence

For Hearing, observe whether this is present

- Operation of auditory faculties in your brain
- Hearing the frequencies of vehicles of consciousness up to the Self
- Astral hearing, functioning in your astral body
- Sruti, the ability to hear with the attentional principle
- Heart hearing, the ability to hear with the spirit
- Auditory Intuition, the ability of the Soul to hear the contents of the Self (personal intuition) and the Superconscious mind (transpersonal intuition)
- The Soul's core hearing—the ability to detect the tone of its own essence

For Knowing, observe whether this is present

- Operation of the centers that permit recognition of what you perceive in your brain
- The ability to recognize the contents of the vehicles of consciousness up to the Self, and to identify in which vehicle they are arising
- Astral intuitive synthesis, functioning in your astral body through the eye in the middle of the forehead
- Chetan, the ability to unite with the consciousness of the attentional principle
- Bhava, the ability to unite with the consciousness with the spirit
- Discernment (Viveka), the ability of the Soul to discriminate the discrete levels of the personality and the Superconscious mind using mandalic and synthetic reasoning
- The Soul's knowledge of itself (Gnosis)

For Speech, observe whether this is present

- Operation of speech faculties in your brain
- Ability to communicate the contents of vehicles of consciousness up to the Self
- Astral speech, ability to speak with subpersonalities, archetypes, or spiritual beings while in the trance state
- Telepathy, the ability to send thought beams to others with the attentional principle
- Prayer, the ability to speak with the spirit to the Soul, the spiritual Master, and to God
- Satsang, the ability of the Soul to speak its realized truths, at the level of Self (integrity) and the Superconscious mind (realized Truth)
- The Unspeakable Name — the Soul realizing its own essence beyond the ability to speak

Monitor the channel of your inner seeing. Where does it stop? What is between this place where it terminates, and the Soul itself? What is the content of this block?

Monitor the channel of your inner hearing. Where does it stop? What is between this place where it terminates, and the Soul itself? What is the content of this block?

Monitor the channel of your inner knowing. Where does it stop? What is between this place where it terminates, and the Soul itself? What is the content of this block?

Monitor the channel of your inner speaking. Where does it stop? What is between this place where it terminates, and the Soul itself? What is the content of this block?

Where Do These Ability Tracks Dwell?

The levels where your Soul opens these abilities in the Planetary, Subtle, and Personal bands of the mind include:

- The seven core tracks that connect with the Soul
- The tracks that unite with the radiant Augoiedes, your form on the Buddhic Plane [in those of you who have this out-pictured in your Divine Plan]
- The radii of your Crown of Purpose [in those of you who have this center in your spiritual destiny track]
- The nodes of the star of your Soul's ability in the Manasic Plane
- The tracks around the form of the Ascended Master on the Solar Angelic Plane [this is only developed in those of you who have a spiritual destiny to manifest this form of mastery]
- The twelve tracks around the Moon Soul or Christ Child nucleus of identity [these are called the twelve gifts of the Spirit in the Bible]
- The tracks leading to any form of mastery on the Psychic Realm
- The tracks to the Master Mind form through the Abstract Mind Plane
- The tracks connecting to any form of mastery in the Subtle Realm
- The tracks of talent, which link the ego with the Self

Similar tracks of abilities cluster on the Path in Higher Octaves of Being—Transplanetary, Cosmic, Supracosmic, and Transcendental.

- You will encounter them along the track of the Monad in the destiny path that it travels through the Planetary Hierarchy, the sacred planets of our Solar System, and the sacred planets of the other star systems in our Life Wave.
- You will find them in the Cosmic Realm, particularly along the track of the cosmic consciousness nucleus of identity [the siddhis of the Yogi], the God Self nucleus of identity, and around the Astral Soul.
- You will discover them around the forms of Mastery in the Supracosmic Sphere.
- They also form around the forms of mastery in the Transcendental Paths—the Bridge Path and T1 to T7.

What Awakens Your Inner Abilities?

It is the transforming, awakening, and transmuting power of the Light that activates these inner powers. The Divine Spirit broods upon your core abilities, and the other aspects of your Soul's abilities that are established in the higher Planes and in your personality.

There may also be instances where you can awaken them through your own efforts.

Where might you find the Spirit at work, awakening these tracks? Or when might your own efforts play a role?

- During Light Sitzings and Soul Attunement work
- In certain cases, using your transformational mantra can open some of these abilities, as the Spirit purifies your vehicles during the downpour phase.

- In response to your invocation—when you make a request to the Soul, or you pray to your spiritual Master and to God.
- For select powers—particularly in the Cosmic Sphere—there may be bija mantras that will open them.
- When the Spirit directs you to take specific action on developing these abilities, and you use your will to carry out or enact this request—you progressively open each segment of this track under this Divine direction.
- Sometimes these channels will open when you overcome a block—you might use techniques that allow you to uncover, process, and release these issues—once you have resolved them, these abilities will emerge.
- The Spirit may also open these blocks in you when it forgives your sins, and restores your powers that you may have had before you darkened your consciousness.
- The awakening of the Kundalini may trigger the Shakti—during the descending phase—to activate your heretofore-dormant powers.

Invocation's Role in Awakening Your Abilities

It is important that you maintain strong desire, commitment, intention, and aspiration to have these tracks be opened in you. It is your Divine Birthright to awaken all of these tracks of your core abilities, and all of the tracks of your Soul's dormant abilities.

We offer to you this simple invocation to help you awaken and activate these powers within you.

May God and the Masters awaken, rehabilitate, and empower each of the abilities within me, so I may fulfill my purpose, so I may perform my service, and I may actualize the Plan that God visualized for me from the beginning of the world.

The Golden Men

Excepted from The Collected Poetry of George A. Boyd, volume one © 2008

The golden men,
In whose genes there is no trace of impediment or corruption,
Whose forms mirror the Perfect Idea of God—
On Whom Death has no power,
Decay has no place to plant his feet.

The golden men,
Whose purposeful thought is attuned to Cosmic Law—
They create, bonding matter to the matrix ethereal
Out of the surrounding Mind substance—
Beyond gravitational limitations,
They speak the Word and it is so.

The golden men
Are arch-illuminati, geniuses of a thousand talents—
Inspiration breathes through their lips, and imbues the minds of men
With the ideals of the future, the Utopian dream
That by their will and thought men must make real in their lives and in the nations of the earth.

The golden men
Have risen above both rupa and arupa worlds.
Their foreheads scintillate with Buddhist radiance,
Their hands are blessing, healing streams,
Their eyes mirror Love's Mastery, and Compassion's knowledge—
they are our brothers, who have remained to serve.

The golden men are with us now:
May we be readied to receive.

Thank you for attending our webinar today!

